Something to think about...

...He saw the sun on the garden... Summer was on the way alright... about time too, he thought!

The invitation said that he and his wife could go and see how they could enjoy the garden ...even from the living room.

If the picture was anything to go by those bifold doors would give us more space and light... give us an opportunity to entertain with the barbie a bit more and if it rains pop into the living room and still enjoy the outdoors... maybe really move into the 21st century.

...And the glass is self cleaning; so no extra work...

...the day after they put the bar-B-Q away!

And what's this - they' would do a deal! ...£200 off every purchase Wow!... The man checked the dates in the paper and called out to his wife; “Jayne, how would you like to join the upper crust...?”

And here's your personal invitation...
